This is a Babel-like campaign for the Democracy.

The candidacy of Mr. Jenkins may be called a "tuttle dalliance." That is the mildest term that can be applied to it.

Tilden's "family tree" which he had prepared for him in England in 1877, will not serve him a very good purpose in the campaign in 1880.

The Second, Fifth, Seventh, and Eighth Congressional Districts, think it will be "tuttle dalliance" for the Democratic State ticket to enter the field.

The Democrats talk of opening the campaign in this State about the 1st of November. Three days, including Sunday, are all they want in which to prepare for a funeral.

Miss Charlotte Richmond has been nominated by the Republicans, for Superintendent of Schools of Green county. She is sister to the present incumbent of the office, is "worthy and well-qualified," and will be elected.

Prof. Haskins, of Milwaukee, makes a proposition to turn the Edgewood property at Madison, into a deaf and dumb institute. This, of course, suits Madison, and it may be the best thing for the State. It would be more economical by a good many thousands of dollars.

The official figures at the end of the fiscal year will make the Democrats growl. They pretend to desire economy in the administration of State affairs, but they get mad when Republicans give the people a safe and economical administration, and call the figures campaign lies.

The Seventh Congress of Women will be held at Madison next week, beginning on Wednesday, and continuing in session three days. This will be no "woman's right" meeting, but one at which will be discussed questions pertaining to science, education, and social science. Some of the most prominent women in this country, in art, education and science, are among the officers, and will attend the Congress and take part in the discussions.

Mr. Cyrus W. Field, a Democrat and once associated in business with Mr. Tilden, has been engaged during the week past proving that Tilden is one of the most dishonest of men. He relates this curious story about the old cipher, who it will be remembered, went to England in 1877, and while in London hired a professional maker of ancestral trees to get him up a genealogy in good style. We give Mr. Field's own language in relation to the family tree:

"In due time the ancestral line was traced. A branch existed, if not good, was found in Kent, a family having been established to Mr. Tilden's great-grandfather, the president of about 1800. After a decent interval he returned to the United States, and received with rapture the precious charter of his illustrious origin, and lavished his praises in the author of his highness, but omitted to include a check in his expenses, which, with a reasonable charge for his own time and labor, amounted to about $200. AN IMPORTANT CARD. EDGEMONT, Rock Co., October 1, 1879. To the Voters of the Third Assembly District: GENTLEMEN—Any report that I have, or ever had, an arrangement to carry my delegation over to Ezra Godrich in the approaching Convention, is false.

Very Respectfully, S. L. LOMB, M. D.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION. The Supreme Court of this State has recently entered an opinion which is of considerable importance as respects the rights of married women to certain property. In the case of Dayton against Walsh, the Court, in stating the facts and in applying the law, says: "A married woman having at the time no separate estate, purchased a farm of a stranger entirely on credit, giving her notes for the price, secured by mortgage of the property. Her husband lived with her on the farm and controlled the farm labor, carrying on the business in her own name as her agent, without any agreement as to compensation for such service;" and from the proceeds of the crops raised on the farm, she paid one year's interest on the purchase money, and a certain amount of the principal. The purchase was made in good faith, and not as a means of placing the husband's property beyond the reach of his creditors. The Court also held that under the statutes of

The Annual State Convention of Congregationalists at Ripon.

Special to the Gazette.

RIPON, Wis., October 1.—The annual State Convention of the Congregational churches met last evening at the First Congregational church in this city. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. George Bushnell, of Beloit, from the text—"I am not come to destroy the law but to fulfill." It was a close and clear argument for the moral phase of the doctrine of the Atonement, and was listened to with marked attention. The closing portion of the sermon was a very practical and forcible appeal to stand by the law in its integrity, and not be diverted from it by any mere sentiment or foolish concessions to a false idea of grace or mercy.

The Convention was regularly organized this morning by the election of Rev. Geo. T. Ladd, of Milwaukee, as Moderator, and Rev. N. T. Blakey, as Clerk.

The devotional exercises during the morning hour were led by Rev. F. T. Lee, of Sparta.

The statistical report was presented by Rev. E. J. Montague, from which we learn that the benevolent contributions of the Congregational churches in the State amount to more than $17,000—some $200 more than last year. There has also been a general spiritual activity, not so much in additions to churches as in a new consecration of the church to its work. Addresses have been made to-day by Rev. S. J. Humphrey, D. D. of Chicago, in behalf of the A. B. C. F. M., by the Rev. James Powell, of Chicago, in behalf of the A. M. Association, and by Rev. William Brown, D. D. of New York, for the Congregational Union.

A very spirited report from Superintendent F. B. Doe was given on "Home Missions." It was followed by an earnest discussion, and a determination to do more than has yet been done. To-morrow will be occupied in the discussion of some very practical questions. About one hundred delegates and ministers have already arrived and more are coming on every train.

HOSTILE UTES.

Further Details of Major Thornburgh's Fight with the Ute Indians.

RAWLINS, W. T., October 1.—The following particulars were obtained from the courier who brought the dispatches from Captain Payne after the fight:

Major Thornburgh's expedition against the hostile Ute Indians, when within seventy miles of the agency, halted for the night of the 26th inst., and the Major sent Gratton Lowry, one of his scouts, to the agency to communicate with Agent Meeker, and to see how matters stood. He found the utmost excitement and confusion prevailing. The Indians had sent all their old men, women and children south, toward the Blue River, the warriors were painted and decorated in the usual war style. They were about to murder Mr. Meeker, but Mr. Lowry prevailed on them not to commit the deed. Mr. Meeker told Lowry that he attempted to leave the agency with his family but was prevented by the Indians; that they (the Indians) signified their readiness for war, and seemed anxious for the approach of the troops. They then made another move to kill Meeker and fire the buildings, but were a second time prevailed upon to desist. Lowry now attempted to return to the command, but after giving them a number of assurances of his peaceable mission, he was allowed to depart, but was accompanied by about thirty warriors, who rode with him a number of miles and then left him. Lowry arrived at the command near Milk Creek, on the evening of the 27th, and gave Major Thornburgh the above information. The next morning, September 29, the command advanced under the guidance of Joe Rankin, who is well acquainted with the country. About 9 o'clock a. m. Rankin discovered fresh Indian signs, and having arrived at a canyon through which the road passed, and which would afford an excellent opportunity for ambush, he led the command over the hills over an old trail well known to him. By this movement he saved the lives of the command, for on arriving on the top of the hill he discovered the Indians in ambush on either side of the canyon through which the road passed. Thornburgh formed his men in line and awaited the coming attack. He was repeatedly urged to fire on the Indians, but persistently refused to do so, saying that his orders would not justify an attack. Two Indians now rode up to within a hundred yards, dismounted, and with a SUICIDE.

ST. PAUL, October 1.—Frank M. Fletcher of Sten & Fletcher, marble dealers, committed suicide by shooting, at his house this forenoon. He was 25 years old, and had only been married a little more than a year. Dependancy induced by business troubles is supposed to have been the cause.

CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

—Rain at last, but not lasting.
—The church folk meet for prayer to-night.
—The weather for a day or two past has revived the interest in soda fountains.
—Richard Garry, charged with larceny, has been held by Justice Prichard to the Criminal Court for trial, in bail of $300, which the defendant furnished.
—Marshall Russell to-day picked up on the street a pocket-book containing $10 and some valuable papers. No one need apply though as he found the owner in less than half an hour.
—H. W. Stanley was brought before Justice Prichard yesterday to answer to the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses, and also of forgery, the details of which were given in the Gazette of Tuesday. The examination was adjourned until next Monday.
—The strips of the rails at the Monterey bridge were taken down while the bridge was being dumped there to fix up the dam, and by some neglect they were not replaced as they ought to have been. The matter should be attended to at once as it is dangerous in its present condition, as some child may fall off.
—God's own sunlight has a good chance to get into E. T. Foote's clothing store now. A new skylight has been put in, which knocks all darkness clear out doors. The improvement is a good one. The store was a reasonably light before, but this makes it a dazzler, and is to be made still more effective by means of a reflector.
—If there's anything that will spoil a fellow for boarding, it is to board himself or work as help in a kitchen. They just get enough of a smattering of the culinary art to be forever grumbling at even the delicacies of the season. A man who will sit on a barrel and munch crackers and herring with the keen relish of contentment is often the first to find fault with a big feed. Such is life.
—Mr. Ed. McKee has been into the Eastern market buying more goods. The customers of that big dry goods house are happy, for they know that this means business. There's no use saying there's nothing new under the sun, for there's plenty, as anyone can be convinced by looking over McKee's shelves and counters. By indignant buying, by being content with small profits, by handling lots of goods, the firm keeps up a continual boom, which promises to keep up, hard times or good times.
—Schertzwitz, the saloonist, who has been getting considerable free advertising of late, is said to have brutally assaulted his little girl this morning in a manner which has caused considerable indignation among those conversant with the facts. The cause of the family trouble is said to be that a colored woman told the irate parent that the girl had taken two shillings out of the till, which the girl denied. Schertzwitz excuse for the punishment was that he was bound his children shouldn't be thieves.
—There it goes again. It was only a little while ago that we noticed the front of Smith & Bostwick's dry goods store almost blockaded with boxes and bales of new goods, and now they are getting in another big supply. Mr. Bostwick has been in New York buying such goods as the trade demands, and he has found much to make the stock more attractive than ever. The purchases are extensive and can't help but attract attention. The amount of new goods is surprisingly large, but the short time required to sell them out is a bigger surprise. Smith & Bostwick get goods to sell, and goods that will sell.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 1 o'clock a. m. to-day at 76 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 73 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 74 degrees above. Rainy. The indications to-day are cloudy weather, with occasional rain.

PERSONAL.

—Mr. G. W. Hawes and family returned to-day from an extended trip Eastward.
—Mrs. A. Hamilton, of Lyons, N. Y., arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hoskins.
—Miss Lillian C. Russ, started this morning for Elgin, Kansas, where she will make her future home. She goes via. Amazon, Nebraska, where she will remain a few weeks.
—L. S. Smith and family have decided to change their residence from Oskosh to this city, and are to occupy Mr. Harrison's house in the First ward. Mr. Smith is the oldest engineer on this division of the Northwestern road, and is already well known to many of our citizens who will gladly welcome him and his family to this city.

SOCIAL MUSICALS.

The Baptist church choir were entertained by Miss Annie Randall, last evening, the choir having accepted an invitation given by her to meet for social rehearsal at her home on Rager avenue. Social chat and music were the order for the first part of the evening, after which a most bountiful collation was spread and partaken of heartily by all present. Before leaving, the choir gave Miss Randall a hearty vote of thanks for the kind and hospitable manner in which they were entertained.

EASTERN EYES.

G. W. Howe, who lately visited this section of the country, writes an interesting letter to the Advocate, of Claremont, New Hampshire, in which he speaks as follows concerning this county, in his letter being dated at Janesville:

The Rock river valley may truly be called the garden of the world. It is one of the finest and most beautiful I have ever seen. I suppose I had seen the finest land out of doors when I visited the West some twelve years ago, but I was mistaken. The farmers have raised such an abundant crop this year that they hardly know how to dispose of it. Just think of it, good butter at six and eight cents a pound. I don't blame my friends here for giving their new milk to the dogs, do you? They are threshing their wheat where we are stopping to-day. It takes ten hands to take care of the grain as fast as they thresh it out.

THE MERRY CHIMES.

The Marriage of Mr. Will A. Webster and Miss Anna A. Hoskins.

Last evening a very happy matrimonial event occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hoskins on Bluff street, it being the marriage of their daughter, Miss Anna A. Hoskins, to Mr. Will A. Webster. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a goodly gathering of relatives and immediate friends, including the "L. A. C. F." club, of which Miss Hoskins is a member, the class of '79 of the High School, of which she is also a member, and the Glee Club to which Mr. Webster belonged. By 8 o'clock, the hour appointed for the ceremony, the guests had assembled in the parlors, and soon after the bridal party entered. Mr. Frank Webster served as groomsmen and Miss Abbie F. Hill, of Beloit, as bridesmaid. Rev. F. L. Chapell, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated, following an abridged form of the Episcopal service, in which the ring was used. At its close the usual congratulations and well-wishes were offered, and after due opportunity had been given for the exchange of those courtesies, the tables were spread, and the guests were served most bountifully.

The latter part of the evening was spent no less pleasantly, the social chatting being happily broken into by several songs from the Glee Club, who entered into their rousing choruses with a zest which showed not only their own enjoyment of the occasion, but that of the other guests. Among the happy incidents of the gathering was the merriment caused by the discovery among the wedding gifts of an elegant little broom, its handle painted tastefully, and upon its bright red appeared traced in dainty letters of gold the following:

"This modest present please accept,
It cometh from a friend,
In sunshine use the bristly part,
In storm the other end."

The guests dispersed at a seasonable hour, leaving with the newly-wedded ones many honest, heart-felt well-wishes for the future, which opens so brightly, and many testimonials of their respect and regard.

The occasion was a most happy and enjoyable one throughout. Among the gifts were:

Gold watch and chain, from the groom.

Marble top chamber set, Mrs. B. C. Webster.

Silver and cut glass fruit dish, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Webster.

Silver pitcher and goblet, from "L. A. C. F." Club—Clara Judd, Franc Edwards, Tillie Bailey, Lou Neal, Lillie Neal, Fannie Ray, and Class of '79—Walter Airis, Fred Clemons, Vinnie Clark, Carrie Grubb, Sadie Back, Emma Joselyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster left this morning for Aurora, Ill., where Mr. Webster has relatives living, whom they will visit briefly, and then return to Ripon, where there home is to be, and where Mr. Webster is engaged in business. The many friends of the happy bride will miss her greatly from their circles, but all rejoice that her future is to be linked to that of one so worthy of sharing it. Both are widely known here, and have hosts of friends who find words but weak to express the wishes of prosperity which are felt for them.

YESTERDAY'S CONVENTION.

The Republicans did nobly yesterday in nominating William Jones, of Clinton, as Superintendent of Schools of the Second district of this county, as stated in last evening's Gazette. The Convention was pretty evenly divided between Mr. Jones and Mr. W. J. McIntyre, of Lima. The latter is a first-class man and had a strong support, and the contest was a long and close one. The delegates showed good sense not only in the men they put forward as candidates for nomination, but also in the good-natured and quiet way in which the struggle was carried on. There was no wrangling, nothing in fact to mar the harmony of the meeting in the least. On the twelfth ballot there were two less votes than on the other ballots, and the count showed that Mr. Jones had received just two majority. He was declared the nominee, but the Chairman had hardly uttered the words, ere one of the delegates informed the Convention that two votes had been cast for Mr. Curtis, of Milton, and had not been accounted for by the tellers. Whether he was mistaken or the ballots had got misplaced was a matter of doubt. There was no hesitancy on the part of Mr. Jones, though the decision had already been declared in his favor. On being given permission to say a word, he remarked that there should be no doubt as to what was the will of the Convention, suggesting that another ballot should be taken, which on motion was done, the former being declared void. This act on the part of Mr. Jones, though but a straw, shows something of the character of the man. He will not descend to any little measures nor take undue advantage of any blunder on the part of others. His course in this as in other acts shows a manliness which is worthy of the highest approval. The final result of the Convention, which placed him in nomination, was satisfactory to all, and Mr. McIntyre and his friends were no less cordial in their congratulations and pledges of support than Mr. Jones' most enthusiastic admirers.

Mr. Jones is a man who has long lived in this county, and who is in all ways qualified to fill the position. He is well educated, and is a practical and experienced teacher. He was educated as a lawyer, and was a student in Conger & Sloan's office, and has served as Justice of the Peace for some time. He is a man of pure personal habits, and sterling integrity, and a more fitting choice could not be made. Those who are interested in the advancement of the educational interests of that district should warmly support a man in whose hands they can so safely be trusted.

Mr. J. B. Tracy, whose term of office is about to expire, has filled the position for about six years with marked ability and with a conscientious fulfillment of all its requirements as far as in his power lies. He may well take pride in looking on the record of the past, for it is a good one. He has made many friends among those interested in educational matters, and his good work among the schools of this district will not soon be forgotten.

BLOODY BAUMGARTEN.

He is Brought Before Justice Brooks on Charge of Murder, and Waives Examination.

Young Baumgarten, the boy-murderer, got out of jail this morning, but not for a very long time. He was under the escort of officers and was taken out for the purpose of bringing him before Justice Brooks to answer to the horrible charge laid against him. The prisoner was not over anxious to meet the outside world, as he is not wholly free from the fear that he may be lynched, although all probable danger in that respect is past. Sheriff Comstock and the new turnkey Ed. Tracy, were in charge of the prisoner. The Sheriff kept in the rear, and Tracy with the prisoner walked side by side in advance. As few on the streets knew Tracy, hardly any one noticed the two as they walked quietly over to Justice Brooks' office. District Attorney Sale was already there, and Attorney William Smith, counsel for Baumgarten, was trying a civil suit in that court. The prisoner was given a seat near the Justice, and quietly sat there while the necessary papers were being made complete. The charge was read to him in a low voice, and his attorney answered for him that he waived examination. By this time a little gathering of a score or more of those curious to see the murderer had congregated about the door, and as the prisoner was led down stairs again they followed, but none seemed disposed to go further than the sidewalk, having satisfied their curiosity by getting a sight at the young felon. The walk back to the jail was equally devoid of interest or excitement, but Baumgarten gave a sigh of relief when again inside of the walls, where he feels that he is alone safe.

Those who expected to see a demented idiot were rather surprised at the prisoner's appearance. He looked a little blanched, but otherwise fresh and of ordinary vigor, and as already stated by the Gazette, there was nothing in his manner to mark him as being different from scores of other boys, who might have passed in and out of that court room, under different circumstances, without a word of comment, from the bystanders.

Blinds! Blinds! Blinds!

Anyone in want of window blinds, will save money and be sure of getting a No. 1 quality, and warranted for cash, on time, by calling on

S. W. HUBBELL.
P. S.—Do not buy of strangers who are trying to run in a lot of poor, worthless blinds, made of tailings of saw-mills. Nothing but the choicest of lumber makes a blind that won't warp in the sun.
